

TEACHERS OF COUNTY WILL GATHER HERE FOR TWO DAYS

Public school teachers of Gettysburg and Adams County will hold joint institute sessions next Monday and Tuesday at Gettysburg High School while their more than 9,000 pupils enjoy a two-day vacation.

Morning and afternoon sessions for both days will include departmental meetings for teachers of each of the elementary grades and all phases of the high school program followed by addresses by widely known educators.

The sessions will climax Tuesday afternoon with an address by Theodore R. McKeldin, former governor of Maryland.

PROMINENT SPEAKERS

Other prominent speakers will include Dr. William J. Vincent, of the Institute of Administrative Research at Columbia University; Dr. Donald Maley, of the Department of Industrial Education of the University of Maryland, and John W. Wentworth of the Radio Corporation of America.

Each morning session will begin with a 45-minute coffee klatsch which will start at 8:30 o'clock.

County Superintendent of Schools C. P. Keefer will preside at the Monday morning program which will open with devotions and the flag salute led by Guy W. Weikert, president of the Senior High Student Council in the host school. There will be three selections by the Senior High School Choir directed by Paul W. Grove.

24 GROUP MEETINGS

After an address of welcome by Gettysburg Superintendent of Schools H. Edgar Riegle, Dr. Vincent will speak on the subject: "Can Our Schools Meet the Challenge of Change?"

An hour of departmental meetings will be held from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. A chairman and a recorder has been assigned for each of the 24 groups that will range from administrators to retired teachers.

During the two-hour lunch period, teachers will have an opportunity to inspect educational displays in the school gymnasium.

The Monday afternoon meeting will open at 4:30 o'clock with an address by Dr. Maley on "Teaching for Individual Differences." Departmental meetings will follow. Frank Basehoar, Littlestown, will preside at the general meeting Monday afternoon.

'EDUCATIONAL ELECTRONICS' On Tuesday morning, Upper Adams Superintendent Donald B. Hudson will preside. John B. Macay, Senior Class president at the high school, will conduct the opening devotions and flag salute and a musical program will be presented by Hummel Fishburn and Frank Gullo of the Departments of Music and Music

FIRE CHIEFS HOLD SESSION

Sgt. Joseph Brannigan, of the Bureau of Fire Protection, Pennsylvania State Police, Harrisburg, was the speaker Thursday evening at a meeting of the Adams County Fire Chiefs Association at Hanover Fire Co.

Sgt. Brannigan showed two films, one depicting methods used by arsonists and the other on the use of fire equipment. He spoke of a recent attempt in the state legislature to legalize use of red lights on fire equipment when returning from fires, but said the legislation did not pass and it is still illegal for firemen to use the red lights on their vehicle except when responding to an alarm.

Fire Marshal John Murren, chairman of the Fire Prevention Week program for the Adams County Firemen's Association and the Fire Chiefs Association, distributed 2,200 school book covers bearing printed information on fire prevention which are to be distributed by the chiefs to the Fifth and Sixth Grade pupils in the county. Of that number 591 were turned over to Gettysburg Fire Chief Francis J. Linn for distribution to the local public and parochial schools.

Chief Linn and Gettysburg Assistant Chiefs Robert Hartman and Charles J. Kerrigan were appointed the committee for the annual "Christmas Cheer" program of the chiefs. President Francis Klunk, Midway, announced the November 2 meeting will be held at Hanover.

MT. PLEASANT MATTERS ARE BEFORE COURT

The Adams County court today divided Mt. Pleasant Twp. into two voting districts and named election boards for the two new districts in the township and the one in the new borough of Bonneaville.

The action resulted from the establishment of Bonneaville as a borough. Previously Bonneaville was part of one of the three voting districts into which Mt. Pleasant was previously divided.

The changes made it necessary for the court to name election boards for the three new districts. All three will elect succeeding election boards at regular elections.

Named as the Bonneaville board were Elizabeth Clabaugh, judge of elections; Regina C. Miller, majority inspector of elections and Guy S. Sanders, minority inspector of elections.

SET BOUNDARY LINES

Mt. Pleasant No. 1: John Clabaugh Sr., judge of elections; Kathryn Smith, majority inspector and Kathryn A. Leatherman, minority inspector. Mt. Pleasant No. 2: Albert Noel, judge of elections; Bernard Weaver, majority inspector and Emory S. Krise, minority inspector.

The order dividing Mt. Pleasant Twp. sets the border line between Mt. Pleasant No. 1 and 2 as Route 01005 from Straban Twp. to its intersection with Route 01068 at the parochial school, then along 01068 to its intersection with Route 0116 and then along 0116 to the township border. All north and east of the line constitutes No. 1, all south and west of the line constitutes No. 2.

A number of support cases were before the court this morning. Court approval was given to an agreement between Floyd J. King, 68 W. Middle St., and his wife,

BEHAVIOR OF TEEN-AGERS IS PTA TOPIC

Discussion on "the normal behavior of teen-agers" followed presentation of a movie entitled "Teens" to the Gettysburg Juniors-Senior High School Parent-Teacher Association at its meeting Thursday night at the high school cafeteria.

Produced in Canada and made available locally by the Adams County Mental Health Association, the movie depicted normal youth in a normal home situation and stressed cooperation between parent and youth.

The president, Rev. Edwin Elliott, presided at the meeting at which a budget of $500 for the year was approved. Among items in the budget were $200 for projects and $40 for scholarship awards. Other amounts were for publicity, refreshments and leadership training.

The PTA authorized the sending of the

30 SIGN FOR "CAMPAIGN GETTYSBURG"

The Business Contacts Committee of "Campaign Gettysburg" today began visiting businessmen and property owners in the center of the town to sign them as participants in the drive "to create our historic image."

The committee, headed by Harold Ecker, expected to have little difficulty in securing many signatures. Thirty merchants have signed the pledges already and "at least 25 more" have informed members of the committee verbally that they will participate, but have not yet formally signed the form to become a full-fledged "participant" in the program with the right to display the "Campaign Gettysburg" emblem.

Among those who have already signed as participants are the Adams House, Anna Bierer Shop, Baker's Battery Service, Jay Bringman, Joseph E. Codori, Lane Studio, Sherman's Men's Store, Swope's 66 Service Station, Duane Johnson Book Store, Duane Eichholtz, Aero Oil Co., S. CHURCHWOMEN HOLD MEETING

Plans were discussed by the officers and circle leaders of the Women of St. James Lutheran Church Thursday evening at their monthly business meeting for circle visitation at the Adams County Home, for Christmas gifts for the family of the Rev. Louis T. Bowers, missionaries in Liberia, Africa, and for making book bags to be filled by the Primary Department of the Sunday School for presentation at the World Community Day service to be held in St. James Friday, November 3, at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. J. Luther Wisler, first vice president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. K. O. Deardoff, who with her husband is on a trip to Wyoming.

Mrs. Wisler, who conducted the devotional period prior to the business session, announced that the next quarterly general meeting will be held November 16 when the program will be presented by the family of the Rev. Rodger Singer, missionaries to Hong Kong, who are now residing in the mission furlough house on Springs Ave. The Esther Circle, Mrs. Carl Prosser, leader, will be in charge of the devotions, and members of the Hannah Circle, the Misses Rosea Armor and Mildred Moser, leaders, and the Martha Circle, Mrs. Richard Fox, leader, will be hostesses.

REPORTS PRESENTED

Mrs. Prosser, offerings chairman, announced that the quarterly thank offering will be received at the November circle meetings.

Reports were presented by Miss Aurelia Spence, secretary; Miss

Methodist Women At Seminar Here

Eighty-five persons attended an educational seminar conducted Thursday at the Methodist Church here for the York and Gettysburg subdistricts. Mrs. Cecil Crompton, Harrisburg district president, presided and 13 officers of the Harrisburg District participated in the sessions conducted from 9:30 a.m. until 3 p.m.

There was opportunity given for officer training and three mission study topics were reviewed: "Churches for New Times," "The People of Latin America" and "The Christian and Responsible Citizenship."

An official hospital spokesman told newsmen "it is too early" to say that Rayburn's cancer is incurable.

"Is he going to die?" a reporter asked.

"It is too early to say that he is going to die," the spokesman said. He added that it also is too early to say that Rayburn would recover.

Asked if it was possible for Rayburn to recover the spokesman replied in the affirmative.

He said Rayburn would be allowed to return to his home in Bonham if he wished to do so "and if we feel he is well enough to go," but "his condition would have to change before he could go back to Washington."

Rayburn's lymph gland was removed during Thursday's surgery.

A hospital bulletin said "the biopsy revealed a metastatic malignancy" and "the most likely primary site of the malignancy is the pancreas."

Testimonial Dinner Is Tendered Gen. W. S. Paul Here Thursday Evening

FOUR HURT IN TWO CRASHES ON THURSDAY

Four persons were injured in two accidents near New Oxford Thursday, while no injuries were reported from an auto accident early this morning on the Lincoln Highway three miles west of here, state police from the local substation said today.

General Eisenhower, under whom General Paul served during the Second World War, said:

"I admired him for his leadership of the 26th Division and I admire him for his accomplishments at Gettysburg College."

"General Paul asked me, after he retired from service, about the possibility of becoming president of Gettysburg College. I said you can't do it. You're not a Lutheran. You're a Presbyterian. However, he overcame that handicap and he became the president. You ask me to tell him how to retire. It's like this. When I was leaving my home at 7:30 this morning my wife said to me that retired was merely a word in the dictionary. It means nothing. So his retirement I hope to see him around here for a long time."

JUDGE SHEELEY SPEAKS

Henry M. Scharf was the toastmaster. He told Gen. Paul that the gathering of "45 of your friends at this dinner is a tribute to the warm affection and respect we have for you."

Scharf introduced the guests and then called on Judge W. C. Sheeley who spoke for the community:

"Many people come to this community and remain to retire. This is a happy occasion. General Paul is leaving the college but not the community. We are grateful for what he has accomplished for Gettysburg College. We know of no one who has done so much in so short a time. General, we have enjoyed having you with us and we hope you remain here a long time."

LAUDED BY STACKPOLE

Gen. Edward J. Stackpole, of Harrisburg, said, "Speaking on behalf of Harrisburgers, I am happy to say that the influence and impact that General Paul has had in Gettysburg has spread to a wide area, much farther than the confines of Gettysburg. We think a lot of him in Harrisburg and I am happy that he is going to remain here in his retirement."

Dr. C. A. Hanson, president of the Adams County Shrine Club, was held Thursday evening at the Hanover Country Club, Abbottstown. The dinner was served at 7 p.m. and there was music for dancing from 9 o'clock to midnight by the Melody Men. One hundred ninety-one persons attended the affair which was sponsored by the Alwine Brick Co.

Guests included Potentate and Mrs. Richard D. W

COMMIES HURL ROCKS ACROSS BERLIN LINE

By JOHN FIEHN

BERLIN (AP)—Angry protesting against the shooting of a Red policeman by West Berlin police, Communist East Germany told the West Thursday that more such incidents will be "a threat to peace."

Gunsshots rang out for the third time within 36 hours Thursday when Red police fired warning shots at a West Berlin policeman and at a workman laying a cable who stepped across the forbidden line into the eastern sector. East Berlin police also engaged in a rock fight with jeering West Berliners.

Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin asked the Western powers for authority to increase his 15,000 man police force as tension mounted along the barricades dividing the city.

WOUND RED COP

The latest flareups began when a Communist policeman was wounded Wednesday night. West Berlin police said they opened fire when shots fired by Red police at fleeing refugees whizzed by them.

East Germany sent a stiff protest to Brandt and to French authorities in Berlin. The shooting occurred in the French sector.

The U.S. State Department held that the West Berlin police were justified in shooting back in self defense and called on the Soviet authorities to tell East Berlin police to avoid shooting incidents "which could jeopardize peace and public order."

The gun play aroused West Berliners to the same angry mood they displayed when the Communists first erected their concrete and barbed wire wall in mid-August to halt the escape of East Germans.

York Accountants Visit Musselman's

Ninety members of the York chapter of the National Association of Accountants and their wives visited the Biglerville plant of the C. H. Musselman Company for dinner in the plant cafeteria and a plant tour Thursday evening.

The visit, which took the place of the monthly meeting of the association, included a tour of the apple butter making plant and the sliced apple operations there.

Members of the Musselman Company staff who served as guides included Donald A. Bissman, Kenneth S. Alwine, George F. Martin, Glenn M. Rider, Robert Hartz, Clyde P. Orner and Robert Wetzel. Also attending from the Musselman Company were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Crum and Marlin Fiszel. Other local members of the association attending were Jack Orner and John Leeti of the Knouse Foods Cooperative, and Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Bagley, Guernsey.

Helen B. King, 66 E. Water St., by which he will pay $15 per week for the support of his wife and two children.

OTHER SUPPORT CASES

Joseph Speelman, Gettysburg R. 5, was directed to pay $10 per week for the support of his 15-year-old wife of one year. The couple separated after about a year of marriage. Speelman said: "I don't know why, we fought a lot." He added that "I've often wished she'd come back" but said he never asked her to do so. Mrs. Speelman, asked if she wished to return to her husband, said, "I don't know."

Lester Walton, New Oxford R. D., was directed to pay $30 per week for the support of his wife and child and his Mrs. Walton were told by the court: "We don't regard this as a separation, but rather that Mrs. Walton is residing at her home for a time until after the child is born and she recovers from her present nervous condition." Walton will pay his wife frequently and pay the support order directly to her, instead of through the probation office. Mrs. Walton said the contention between her and her husband came about because he was out of the house many nights. Two nights a week, she said, he went bowling.

Stephen R. Anthony, appearing before the court for failure to pay on $195 restitution and costs after parole on a burglary and larceny charge, was released on agreement to pay $15 per month on the amount.

ONE ORDER BOOSTED

Ray E. Golden, Gettysburg R. 3, before the court for failure to keep current support payments, was told to return November 21 and the court suggested that since two of his five children are now in the service he should seek a reduction in the support order.

The support case against Gary L. Harner, Littlestown, was continued for six months to terminate at that time unless revived.

By agreement, the court directed that Marshall Chapman, Freedom Twp., pay $15 per week for the support of two children.

By agreement, the support of Harry R. Carson, Thurmont, was increased from $40 to $55 per week plus payment of medical expenses.

Leon Gerald Little appeared before the court for parole on a sentence on a larceny of a motor vehicle charge. At the request of the district attorney, the parole action was postponed to permit disposition of another charge against him at the same time.

Three Countians In College Choir

Ronald L. Ditzler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Ditzler, Gettysburg R. 2; Paul Deitz, son of Mrs. Margaret Deitz, 116 S. Hay St., and Robert E. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Baker, Gettysburg R. 5, are among the 70 students comprising the Gettysburg College Choir.

The choir will take a southern tour this year, presenting concerts in Virginia, North and South Carolina. Special concerts are also given by the choir at the college throughout the school year.

Ditzler, a senior and also a dean's list student, has been elected president of the choir.

29 Killed In Train Crash

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—Railroad officials counted today 29 persons dead and at least 45 injured after a packed suburban passenger train crashed into a halted repair train Thursday night.

The three-car passenger train had just left Berliner Tor station in downtown Hamburg when it rammed into the repair train, which was loaded with wide steel beams used in bridge building.

Railroad officials said a track supervisor had given the passenger train the all-clear signal by mistake.

HARPER HOWE, FARMER, DIES

G. Harper Howe, 68, New Oxford R. 1, died at his home at 3:10 o'clock Thursday afternoon at 9 o'clock at Bendersville, and 10 o'clock at Weinstadt, Arthur Gordon, Biglerville High School teacher, will be the guest speaker at Weinstadt. There will also be a guest speaker and program at Bendersville.

Born in Latimore Twp., he was a son of the late J. Franklin and Ellen Spangler Howe and a member of St. Paul's United Church of Christ, New Oxford, and the Sunday School. The deceased had lived at his residence the last 37 years and was a farmer.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Helen Myers Howe; one son, G. Frederick Howe, New Oxford R. 1; a sister, Mrs. J. Grace Spangler, Gettysburg R. 4; a brother, Jacob L. Howe, New Oxford R. 1, and several grandchildren.

BOY SCOUTERS MAKE PLANS ON CAMPOREE

Boy Scouting and Explorers attending the Black Walnut District "combination nature, conservation and wildlife course and camporee" to be held October 13 and 14 at Pardes Field will leave the session knowing many new facts about native wild animals, according to announcements at a meeting of the committee in charge Thursday evening at the library of the American Legion home, Baltimore St.

Game Protector Paul Glenny and a number of other district game protectors from throughout the area will be the instructors for most of the courses on such matters as "How to Find Animal Tracks," "Tracking," "Identification of Tracks," "Plaster of Paris Casting of Tracks," "Predatory Birds," "Live Reptiles," "Animal Skulls," "Identification of Trees" and "How to Determine the Age of Deer by Their Jaws."

Baird Hershey, York Springs taxidermist, will speak on proper handling of furs and several game protectors are scheduled to talk on "Conservation of Wildlife" and "Proper Methods of Trapping."

ANOTHER IN SPRING

The committee in charge decided that the camporee will be a "learn by doing" event. The Scouts and Explorers will make plaster of paris casts of tracks, will study live birds, trees and snakes during the demonstrations and will be given the jaws of deer to make their own determination of age following instruction.

The program will open Friday evening, October 13, with the units registering at any time after school. Each unit will have its own program and campfire that evening. At 10:30 o'clock Friday night the leaders will conduct a meeting to complete plans for the Saturday events.

Saturday's program will be devoted to instruction. A recognition program will be held at 7:30 o'clock that evening.

The camporee will end, as far as the district is concerned, Saturday night, but the units may continue camping on their own Sunday at Pardes Field.

Crosby N. Hartzell, district commissioner, and Paul Hollinger, district camping and activities chairman, presided at the meeting. Preliminary plans were made for a spring camporee May 25, 26 and 27.

CHURCHWOMEN

Mildred Widder, treasurer; Mrs. Herbert Zapp, education chairman; Mrs. Hobson Crouse, Christian service chairman, and Miss Vestal Stalsmith, membership chairman.

The following circle meetings will be held this month:

Monday, October 9 — 7:30 p.m., Martha Circle, Mrs. Richard Fox, leader, at the Fox home, 334 Gettys St.

Principal Snowberger introduced the new teachers at the high school; expressed the hope that the local PTA continues to grow and complimented this year's student body for "their cooperative adaptability." He reported that the influx of students at the opening of school created several unexpected crowded conditions, but the conditions have now been alleviated partly by the addition to the staff of a part time teacher, Mrs. Ralph Jackson.

A brief discussion was held on Civil Defense protection in the schools but, with the State Council of Education scheduled to make recommendations in the near future, the discussion was brief, with a statement to be made later following receipt of the state school officials' recommendations on the subject.

A social period followed the meeting with Mrs. David Deitch, Mrs. Robert Weener and Mrs. Glenn Simpson serving refreshments. William Lutz, a student, was projectionist for the film shown during the meeting attended by 24 teachers and 60 parents. The December 7 meeting will also be held in the high school cafeteria.

CUBS VISIT FARM

The Cub Scouts of Den No. 5 enjoyed a farm visit in connection with their meeting on Tuesday evening. They first visited the Mervin Hankey farm, where the new type milking machines were demonstrated. They also visited the John Hankey farm and watched the grading of eggs. A party followed at the home of the assistant den mother, Mrs. William Waltz, in honor of the birthday of Den Chief Robert Alford. Mrs. Denton Barnhart, den mother, announced that future meetings will be held each Friday from 6 to 7 p.m. at the Community Center.

VETERANS DAY

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence has set aside Nov. 11 as Veterans Day in Pennsylvania "to commemorate the one million men and women who have died in the service of their country."

The governor also proclaimed Oct. 19 as International Credit Union Day and Oct. 8 as Safety Engineers Day.

ROB SUPERMARKET

ALLENTHON, Pa. (AP) — Muhlenberg College installed Dr. Erling Jensen today as its seventh president.

Dr. Jensen is the first scientist to head the 113-year-old Lutheran school. He formerly was senior physiologist at the Institute for Atomic Research at Ames, Iowa, and professor of physics at Iowa State University. He succeeds Dr. J. Conrad Segers, president for eight years.

Today's Talk

FLATTERY

How unfortunate that the most respectable of human beings seem so inclined to buy their way to a vein of happiness through bribe.

Not with so much money, but with subtler things such as nods, insincere questionings and flattery.

Flattery is the thing most used for it slips down so much easier, and like honey, before you know it you have become sickened by its oversweetness.

It takes a very big and unusual man or woman to smile in the fact of flattery, all the time understanding its vaporous art.

In reading history you learn of many a proud leader brought low, many an austere monarch stricken from his throne through the studied art of flattery.

It is written that those whom the gods would destroy, they first make mad. But I believe that the gods have destroyed more through flattery than by any other means.

For this flattery business eats into pride and respect and destroys that finest of all gifts — spiritual vision.

He who achieves wants no flattery. What he wants is appreciation and just pride.

And the more a man honestly achieves, and permanently so, the more is he susceptible to appreciation.

There is much in this life that is not to the point. There are so many who mistake flattery for praise. And they do not come to a full realization until they come down with a case of mental indigestion.

The sick in mind alone find flattery acceptable — for a little. Like strange and bitter medicine about which they know nothing, they yield to a dose or two to see what happens.

The thing that happens is that he or she who partakes gets "worse!"

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Lure"

GETTING MARRIED

"I'm going to get married," said he.

"Have you any good counsel for me?"

"Well," I answered, "I've traveled the road you must tread;

"It's been a long time since the day we were wed,

"The day when life looked all so rosy ahead.

"Getting married, my boy,

"Is a wonderful joy,

"But it's not just for laughter you make her your wife;

"It's for all sorts of weather, for all sorts of strife,

"For winter, for summer, in fact it's for life!

"It's for sunshine and rain,

"It's for pleasure and pain,

"It's not just a promise to love now and then,

"But a pledge to stay faithful and fond of her when

"Time has brought you the burdens it brings to all men.

"And no man can say

"What awaits down the way;

"What of anguish or sorrow or loss you must bear;

"What tests of the spirit may come to you there;

"But it's certain not always your skies will be fair.

"Now if you've made sure

"That your love will endure,

"That it's not a mere fancy a storm may destroy,

"But you'll stay by her whether in sorrow or joy,

"And face old age together — get married, my boy!"

Reds, Behind Joe Jay, Whip Yanks, 6 To 2, In 2nd Game; Will Play In Ohio Saturday

By JERRY LISKA

Associated Press Sports Writer
CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The World Series flares anew Saturday after a change of scenery and certainly a chance of prospects for the lightly-regarded Cincinnati Reds in their postseason championship duel with the New York Yankees.

The Reds, seemingly well outclassed in losing Wednesday's opener, came back to life in New York Thursday with a 6-2 decision that proved the Yankees mighty human after all.

But while the Yankees were playing Alphonse and Gaston with themselves as the two-game New York phase of the series concluded, the Reds uncorked the same type of performance that confounded the experts while they ran off with the National League pennant.

CAST OF UNKNOWN

Strapping Joey Jay was the pitcher against the Yanks his regular season 21-10 record stamped him to be. But additionally, Cincinnati's cast of unknowns produced a couple of sideshow whizzes in Venezuelan second baseman Elio Chacon and reserve catcher John Edwards.

When the series third game is played at Crosley Field Saturday (1 p.m. Eastern Standard Time), the Yankees will find themselves hammered down to 2 to 1 favorites from a 4-1 choice prior to the loose frolic Thursday before 63,083 in Yankee Stadium.

As for the third game—in which Cincinnati's knuckleballer, Bob Purkey (16-12) faces New York's Bill Stafford (14-9)—the Yankees are a 7-5 pick to triumph in the cozy confines of Crosley Park. The forecast for Saturday is fair and pleasant.

In the three games that now must be played in Cincinnati in the best-of-7 series, the Yankees are expected to be bolstered by return of ailing Mickey Mantle, who sat out—very gingerly—the two New York games because of an infected hip.

NEED LONG BALL

Certainly Mantle's long-ball hitting must be offset to a terrific swoon thus far by Roger Maris, the man who set an all-time season home run record with 61.

Maris, still hitless in seven series official at-bats, has struck out three times, twice being whiffed Thursday by the 6-4, 225-pound Jay. Roger hasn't hit a ball out of the infield in the series.

Although he allowed only four hits, Jay kept walking himself into and pitching himself out of trouble, no small thanks to the 5-9, 163-pound Chacon from Caracas, Venezuela.

Chacon, substituting for regular Don Blasingame, who had a jammed finger, started two crackling double plays, a department in which Cincinnati supposedly is hurting.

GOOD BASE RUNNING

But Chacon's big feat was an explosive bit of base-running on a short passed ball for an unearned but decisive tally in the fifth off Yankee loser Ralph Terry which put the Reds ahead 3-2.

Although the Yankees committed three other errors, the big misue was when Terry pitched a slider which eluded catcher Elston Howard in the fifth with Vada Pinson at bat and Chacon on third and Eddie Kasko on first.

The ball rolled only about 10 feet from the plate and was quickly retrieved by Howard. Chacon set sail from the plate "on his own" but neither Howard nor Terry was aware the flying Chacon was in full flight until it was too late. Terry hung back instead of covering the plate, and Howard first looked to see if Kasko was heading for second before making a futile dive at Chacon racing home.

WAS WINNING RUN

As events turned out, that was the ball game, but the 6-4, 220-pound Edwards, catching in place of ailing Darrell Johnson, still was to taste some World Series glory

A .182 hitter during the season, Edwards was scored in the sixth inning — following Wally Post's double—by both Yankee Manager Ralph Houk and Terry. Houk ordered right-handed hitting Gene Freese walked intentionally in order to get at left-handed batting Edwards.

Right-hander Terry, after spinning across two strikes for an 0-2 count, let a fat pitch fly and Edwards singled into right field, scoring Post for a 4-2 Cincinnati lead.

Again, in a weird eighth inning, Freese was walked intentionally and Edwards uncorked a bloop double which scored the sixth and final Red run.

The Redleg eighth, in which lefty Luis Arroyo proved anything except the ace reliever he is supposed to be, found veteran Yogi Berra flitting from a hero to goat role.

TWO-RUN HOMER

Berra, who slammed a two-run homer in the fourth to gain New York a 2-2 tie, let Post's drive whistle between his legs for a three-base error, setting up the second Red run of the inning. Berra seemed to have the ball caught for the third out, but it sank rapidly and streaked past him to the wall.

But Berra's two hits hoisted his record series total to 70 in 70 series games and his other continuing marks for the post-season classic now include 38 RBIs, 40 runs scored and 116 total bases.

Although Houk said he was uncertain over his Sunday pitcher, it most likely will be Whitey Ford, who pitched a two-hit 2-0 opening victory Wednesday and can break Babe Ruth's pitching record of 29-2 scoreless innings. Ford has pitched 27 runless innings—three successive shutouts, including two against Pittsburgh last year.

GHS Invades Hanover For Game Tonight

Tonight it's eastward-ho for most local football fans with Vada Pinson at bat and Chacon on third and Eddie Kasko on first.

Gettysburg High's Warriors oppose the Hanover Nighthawks at Sheppard-Myers Field in Hanover while Delone Catholic tangles with York Catholic at McSherrystown. Both kickoffs are slated for 8 o'clock.

Coach Don Young announced today that Rodney Fair, end on the Warrior team, will miss tonight's game because of an injury and will be replaced by Earl Kump. Fair's loss will be a severe handicap as he had been playing fine ball.

Saturday's program includes three scholastic games, Biglerville will be host to Juniata Joint at 8 p.m.; Littlestown plays at York Central at 2 p.m. while Bermudian Springs meets South Western at Hanover at 8 p.m.

Hawks, All-Stars To Play Annual Game

CHICAGO (AP) — Dominated by players from Montreal and Toronto, the National Hockey League All-Star team challenges the Chicago Black Hawks, Stanley Cup champions, Saturday night.

A sellout crowd of some 14,000 will pack Chicago Stadium for the 15th game in the series in which All-Star teams have won 6, lost 4 and tied 4.

Sid Abel, whose Detroit Red Wings bowed to Chicago in the sixth game of the best-of-seven championship series last season, will coach the All-Stars.

G-BURG HOSTS LEHIGH SOCCER SQUAD TODAY

The Gettysburg College soccer team inaugurated its 1961 campaign here this afternoon when it entertained Lehigh University. The Bullets were out to avenge a 5-0 setback at the hand of the Engineers a year ago.

Coach Lou Hammann, starting his third season at the Bullet helm, figures this season's squad to be one of the best he has ever coached. He has been pleased with the improved performance of several returning veterans and the tough, hustling, competitive spirit of many outstanding sophomores.

Charlie Crosson, Unionville, was ineligible a year ago, but has come back strong and will work at left halfback. He will assist Cox as cocaptain. Other returning lettermen include John Mattingly, Washington, D. C., right halfback; Scott Sturges, Youngstown, N. Y., at right fullback; Dick Gardner, Wellesley, Mass., left-inside, and John Pawelek, Baltimore, right halfback.

Rick Taylor, Glen Mills, an outstanding player on last year's freshman squad, is expected to give a tremendous boost to the scoring punch. Ben Fernandez, Linden, N. J.; Howie Gerden, Freehold, N. J., and Chauncey Johnstone, New York City, round out the list of potentially strong sophomores who will be counted on to bolster the attack.

Cicada Tries For 6th Richest Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cicada, heir-apparent to the 2-year-old filly championship, will go after her sixth and richest stakes prize of the season Saturday in the $70,000-added Frizette Stakes at Aqueduct.

Cicada and seven other fillies are lined up for the Frizette, a one mile affair. Owned by Christopher T. Chinery, Cicada is expected to be an entry with the stable's other good filly, Baroda. The combination may go off as the 4-5 choice.

The Frizette already is worth $114,075 through various fees, payments and the $70,000 added by the New York Association.

Eight starters at $1,000 would hike the total of $122,075 with $84,575 to the winner.

There were three supplementary nominees at $5,000 apiece, Ogden Phipps' Broadway, King Ranch's Tamarona, and E. Barry Ryan's Firm Policy. Broadway beat Cicada in the Polly Drummong Stakes Belle.

Cicada, heir-apparent to the 2-year-old filly championship, will go after her sixth and richest stakes prize of the season Saturday in the $70,000-added Frizette Stakes at Aqueduct.

Cicada and seven other fillies are lined up for the Frizette, a one mile affair. Owned by Christopher T. Chinery, Cicada is expected to be an entry with the stable's other good filly, Baroda. The combination may go off as the 4-5 choice.

The Frizette already is worth $114,075 through various fees, payments and the $70,000 added by the New York Association.

Eight starters at $1,000 would hike the total of $122,075 with $84,575 to the winner.

There were three supplementary nominees at $5,000 apiece, Ogden Phipps' Broadway, King Ranch's Tamarona, and E. Barry Ryan's Firm Policy. Broadway beat Cicada in the Polly Drummong Stakes Belle.

"Take Second Look Before Fixing Labels" Says Pastor

By REV. DONALD H. TREES
Pastor, Methodist Church

THE SECOND LOOK

with them you are open to suspicion as part of a sinister conspiracy to overthrow America.

STEPS FROM MISTAKES

Closer to us is the tendency we have on a local community level to pin equally damaging labels on people — on entire families and segments of the community. "Lazy," "wasteful," "irresponsible," "selfish," "snobbish" — such are local labels that can be pinned on people. Often these labels stem from past mistakes, either their own or those near to them.

When we so pinpoint people, we immediately make our understanding of them impossible. We easily and conveniently turn away without asking why and when and where they got to be the way they are and, above all, how they can best be helped in overcoming their shortcomings.

"LOVE BORE FRUIT"

When Jesus sat down with the sinners He was labelled a glutton and a winebibber by the "religious" people of the community, to which He made the reply we should feel impelled to make: "These people are spiritually sick, and I have come to help make them well."

Instead of labelling them He loved them and His love bore great and good fruit. To the spiritually sick among us we should take a second look — discarding the labels and thinking in love.

Closely related to his practice of labelling is the need for us to take a second look at the rumors that cross our doorsteps, especially those serious and injurious to the best interests of others. Even the most minor and inconsequential ones can blossom into disastrous ones, for the human tongue has greater projecting power than all the missiles and rockets at Cape Canaveral.

"GATES OF GOLD"

An Arabian wise man once advised a wicked gossip as follows: "If you are tempted to reveal tale to you someone has told about another, make it pass, before you speak, three gates of gold.

First, Is it true? Then, Is it useful? And the next is last and narrowest, Is it kind? And if to reach your lips at last it passes through these gateways three, then you may tell the tale, nor fear what the result of speech may be."

Is it true, is it necessary, is it kind? If it is, then repeat it. If it doesn't satisfy all three, keep silent and help the rumor die a sudden death!

Finally, we should constantly keep taking a second look at ourselves. Turning from the inspection of others we should strive for introspection — a looking in at what we actually are, what we have been, and where we are going.

GLORIOUS MOMENT

One of the glorious moments in the life of the Master was the certain religious leaders brought to Him a woman who had been caught in adultery. They came to test Him, to see if He would have her stoned. "Let Him who is without sin among you be the first to throw a stone."

Look to yourselves, taking the long, hard second look as sinful men of many shortcomings. These accusers took that look and we are told they left one by one, the oldest leaving first, for he, on second look, had the most sins.

This we also must do to walk with the Master.

We must take a second look at labels for the sale of love;

We must take a second look at rumors for the sake of truth;

We must take a second look at ourselves for our own sakes.

This is the best bubble he has ever blown, big and shiny and full of rainbow lights that shimmer gaily as he blows . . . and blows . . . and blows . . .

Inevitably, there will come the moment, when he will blow too hard and the bubble will burst. And then what was a thing of bewitching beauty will have vanished into air.

Some of the brightest-appearing things in life are no more stable than bubbles. They can shatter in an instant. But there are values that endure . . . the kind of values we learn in Church. The Church can help us achieve something solid and real, and the faith it teaches us is in no danger of disappearing today . . . tomorrow . . . or ever.

FIRE SAFETY WEEK STEEPED IN TRADITION

Gettysburg and Adams County are participating with thousands of other communities across the nation in observing fire prevention week, Oct. 8-14, which President Kennedy has proclaimed.

"Our aim during fire prevention week," Gettysburg Fire Chief Frank Linn said, "is to sell everyone on the idea that fire prevention is a matter of life and death; that each individual owes it to himself, to his family and his community to think and act fire-safe every minute of the day the year-around."

Gettysburg's fire prevention week is based on the activities to inform the residents of the modern methods used by the local company. Wednesday evening, the firemen had over $100,000 worth of equipment in Lincoln Square for the public to view.

OLDEST SPECIAL WEEK

Fire prevention week is the oldest and most widely observed of all special weeks, Linn said. It traditionally includes the anniversary date of the great Chicago fire which, on October 8, 1871, took 250 lives and destroyed 17,430 buildings at a direct loss of over $168 million.

Fire prevention week was inaugurated and first observed throughout the United States on October 9, 1911. It began when

$250,000 Blaze In Uniontown Store

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Fire destroyed one building and damaged three others in the center of downtown Uniontown early Thursday. Damage was unofficially estimated at $250,000.

Some 18 persons were forced to flee. Several firemen were overcome by smoke. They were treated at the scene.

The blaze started in the Kinney shoe store building and spread to the adjoining Leonard Building. The rear three floors of the Kinney Building burned to the ground. The front two floors remained standing but were heavily damaged. The building also houses shoe store offices and apartments.

The Leonard Building, housing offices, apartments and a thrift drug store, also was damaged extensively.

Cause of the fire was undetermined.

The Fire Marshals' Association of North America suggested that the 40th anniversary of the Chicago fire be set apart for bringing before the public the much-needed lesson of fire prevention.

In August, 1916, the National Fire Protection Association committee on Fire Prevention Day was formed, and in 1920, this committee succeeded in persuading President Wilson to issue the first national fire prevention day proclamation. However, it was not until 1922 that the whole week containing fire prevention day was officially proclaimed such by President Harding.

SAYS PARENTS MAY PROTECT CHILD IN FIRE

One in every five fire victims is a child under five years of age. What can you do to protect your child from fire?

Plenty, says Gettysburg Fire Chief Frank Linn, and he has this fire prevention week advice for parents:

"Never leave children home alone. They're helpless to escape fire that they themselves often start when left unattended."

"By the same token, always keep matches and lighters far out of the reach of youngsters."

According to reports from the National Fire Protection Association, these are two of the major causes of child fire deaths, Linn said.

"Watch out for situations where the child's clothing might catch on fire," he also warned.

WARY OF BONFIRES

"In the home, that means not being allowed to play near stoves and furnaces. Outdoors, be wary of bonfires and field fires for this reason."

"For the child's sake, be sure his party costumes and decorations are flame proof. And no candles should be carried by youngsters. Parents should give them a flashlight or an electric candle instead for Halloween and other occasions."

"Play it double safe," chief Linn urges. "Teach your child

SAYS TORCH WITH PAINT IS DANGEROUS

Using a blow-torch to remove paint is a dangerous practice, warns the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Also, there is danger in the use and handling of paint removers containing volatile, flammable liquids or solvents.

Instead, the National Board suggests removing old paint by safer methods, such as scraping, sanding, wire brushing, or using noncombustible paint removers or an electric paint remover of a type listed by Underwriters Laboratories, Inc.

CALL COMPANY BEFORE A FIRE

The best time to call the fire department is before the fire, says Gettysburg Fire Chief Frank Linn.

Linn explained that fire hazards in the home can be controlled through good housekeeping practices and the members of the fire department will be happy to assist any householder who wants to learn exactly what's safe and what's not.

He urged householders to take advantage of the department's home inspection program, now, during fire prevention week.

Home inspections by uniformed firemen are being promoted everywhere by the International Association of Fire Chiefs. The purpose is to uncover fire hazards, not to hunt out violations of regulations.

DETERMINE HAZARDS

The fireman making an inspection determines what hazards exist and recommends ways of eliminating them in order to prevent fires.

to do the right thing if his clothes should ever catch on fire; tell him not to run, but to lie down at once and roll over slowly to smother the flames in a rug, blanket or coat if available."

HALLOWEEN IS FIRE DANGER TO CHILDREN

ALLENTELL, Pa. (AP)—A 53-year-old man has been convicted of second degree murder in a hit-and-run death which occurred 32 years ago.

A jury of eight women and four men Wednesday returned the verdict against Charles Kuscan, of Bath R. 2, after deliberating less than two hours.

Kuscan, who police said signed a statement admitting he ran down Peter Fry, of Allentown, on Jan. 12, 1929, after accusing him of cheating at cards, showed no emotion.

Sentencing was deferred pending a motion for a new trial.

Kuscan, who was arrested last March 29 after an anonymous telephone call to police, faces a 10-to-20 year prison term, under Pennsylvania law.

Flameproofing all costumes made of loosely woven fabric is one of the most necessary safety measures, the National Board of Fire Underwriters emphasizes. Dip the costume in a solution of 9 oz. of borax and 4 oz. of boric acid to a gallon of water. Wring by hand; hang to dry. Ironing does not affect the flame-resistance, but the treatment must be repeated after each laundering.

DON'T EXPECT MUCH

A word of caution. Don't expect too much from the term "flameproof." If you hold a tect the house its occupants.

The program is voluntary on the part of the householder, Linn said, and it really pays off. He cited an example in Los Angeles where home inspections were credited with cutting home fire by 25 per cent.

"Let's do even better in Gettysburg and stop all home fires before they start; we can do it," Chief Linn concluded.

Keep your children safe!

CHIEF ADVISES ON WHAT TO DO DURING FIRES

What would you do—what would your family do if fire should strike within the next few seconds? How would you save yourself from painful burns and even death?

It's worth your life to know the right answers, says Gettysburg Fire Chief Frank Linn. And he passes along this fire prevention week advice on saving your life:

Get out of the house the minute you discover a fire or smell smoke.

Don't fling doors open if you think there is a fire—feel them first and if they are hot, get out another way or block the doors with furniture or mattresses to keep out smoke or gases.

Remember, the air is usually better near the floor in a smoke-filled building.

CHILDREN OF TWO STARS IN SHOW DEBUTS

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Maureen O'Hara met Danny Thomas recently in the corridors of St. John's Hospital.

"Why did we let them do it?" wailed Danny. The reason for his lament: Both his daughter Marie and Maureen's daughter Bronwyn are making their debuts in show business.

Reported Maureen: "Danny got so worked up about it that the nuns had to come out and shoo him."

She herself is disappointed but resigned to Bronwyn's decision. "Ah, me!" Maureen sighed. "Where have I failed?"

SHIELD DAUGHTERS

"Knowing the heartbreaks, the pitfalls, the dangers of the acting life, a mother naturally wants to shield her daughter from them. I've done everything I could to discourage Bronwyn. Now all I can do is hope that I have given her the strength to withstand the heartbreaks, the pitfalls, the dangers."

Bronwyn seems able to handle them. At 17 she is a strong-minded, determined, auburn-haired version of her titan-tressed mother. She knows what she wants. "To be an actress," she declared at her Bel-Air home. "Not for the glamor of it; that never appealed to me. I want to act in things that require some depth and understanding, not just anything. I won't stay in acting unless I can do that."

IS VERY MODEST

She is starting modestly. Her first professional role is as a sorority girl in a "Bachelor Father" sequence over ABC next week.

"I would have had the bigger role in the story except for one thing," Bronwyn said. "I can't really complain about the reason: The producer said I couldn't play a witch."

Her billing: Bronwyn Fitz-Simons.

She explained that Bronwyn means "lovely white breast of a dove" and Fitz-Simons is an old form denoting "illegitimate son of Simon." Makes quite a story. Bronwyn declined to use the name O'Hara. "I won't trade on my mother's name," she said. "If I make it, I'm going to make it on my own."

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Farming was tabbed the "most important, most indispensable occupation on earth" Wednesday night by Carroll P. Streeter, editor of the Farm Journal in Philadelphia.

"America's farmers furnish 184 million people with three square meals a day, plus a good bit of their clothing," Streeter told members of the National Association of State Departments of Agriculture.

"CARETAKER" IS EXPLOSIVE ON BROADWAY

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP) — Three superb players are on stage in "The Caretaker." The result is explosive—and baffling—dramatic excitement for Broadway showgoers.

The cryptic stunner by English playwright Harold Pinter arrived Wednesday night at the Lyceum Theater, and lived up to its reputation as London's best thespic effort last season.

Although Pinter—a young but apparently not very angry man—keeps his precise meaning obscure, the situation which he has contrived provides a bravura holiday for the cast.

Donald Pleasence, Robert Shaw and Alan Bates are the trio who etch brilliant characterizations under the direction of Donald McWhinnie.

NUMBER OF SYMBOLS

The events of the charade take place in a musty, littered garret—which you can make into any number of symbols.

Pleasence is a snivelling, scratching tramp who has been befriended by Shaw and given shelter in the hovel. As Pinter unfolds his plot, with suspenseful flourishes, Shaw's insane past comes into focus and impinges upon him, an eccentric younger brother (Bates) and the ragamuffin.

The dramatic pace is waywardly uneven, and scenes switch with arresting abruptness from the paradoxical, to the absurd and wildly hilarious.

"You get a bit out of your depth sometimes," Bates remarks at one point. It is a line worth remembering while the spectator is figuring everything out.

Deplores Adults' Efforts To Be "Childishly Cute"

Associated Press Science Writer

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—A Johns Hopkins philosopher Thursday deplored what he termed efforts of American adults to be "childishly cute" despite their age.

Speaking at a Duke University symposium on health and other problems of children, Dr. George B. Boas said: "Actually, adults have tried to return to the state of childhood while incapable of reversing their physical growth."

In this connection he criticized the "pathetic efforts which we Americans, more than any other people, make to be as little children: Our refusal to admit our age, our delight in childhood entertainments, our artificial youthfulness, our love of the cute."

SYMPONIUM SPEAKER

He spoke at a symposium designed to introduce this novel concept: The world's one billion children constitute a single unit—a "commonwealth of children," transcending all national, racial and cultural boundaries—and that all of them need better support from their elders if world peace

Spectacular Fire Destroys Temple

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Fire investigators pored through the ruins of Temple Beth Zion today in an effort to determine the cause of Wednesday night's spectacular million-dollar fire.

The 70-year-old sandstone structure, less than a mile from downtown, was described as a total loss. Its adjoining school, constructed in 1929, suffered heavy damage in the blaze and a nearby social club was damaged by smoke and water. No one was injured.

The Temple housed the city's only reform congregation of an estimated 1,700 members.

LONDON (AP)—The British Treasury Thursday cut the Bank of England rate half a point—from 7 per cent to 6½ per cent.

is to be achieved.

Speaking on the subject "What Is a Child?" Dr. Boas said: "Pediatricians have their own concepts of childhood. At the Johns Hopkins Hospital for instance, it was once agreed that a person ceases to be a child at the age of 14. But a person may stop being a psychological child without ceasing to be attached to his old doctors, and frightened by new ones. The use of age groups has been a great convenience to schoolteachers and statisticians, but it has been only a convenience."

CHIEF ADVISES ON WHAT TO DO DURING FIRES

What would you do—what would your family do if fire should strike within the next few seconds? How would you save yourself from painful burns and even death?

It's worth your life to know the right answers, says Gettysburg Fire Chief Frank Linn. And he passes along this fire prevention week advice on saving your life:

Get out of the house the minute you discover a fire or smell smoke.

Don't fling doors open if you think there is a fire—feel them first and if they are hot, get out another way or block the doors with furniture or mattresses to keep out smoke or gases.

Remember, the air is usually better near the floor in a smoke-filled building.

YORK SPRINGS—The Adams County Council of Churches will sponsor a clothing drive in November.

The York Springs Boy Scouts will hold a Court of Honor this evening at 8 o'clock in the elementary school auditorium. The first Eagle Scout award will be presented to Samuel Bricker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Bricker.

Miss Rachael Gochenour has returned home from the Harrisburg Polyclinic Hospital where she had undergone major surgery.

Mrs. Leslie Hikes has returned home from the York City Hospital where she underwent major surgery.

CHILDREN OF TWO STARS IN SHOW DEBUTS

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Maureen O'Hara met Danny Thomas recently in the corridors of St. John's Hospital.

"Why did we let them do it?" wailed Danny. The reason for his lament: Both his daughter Marie and Maureen's daughter Bronwyn are making their debuts in show business.

SHIELD DAUGHTERS

"Knowing the heartbreaks, the

pitfalls, the dangers of the acting life, a mother naturally wants to shield her daughter from them. I've done everything I could to discourage Bronwyn. Now all I can do is hope that I have given her the strength to withstand the heartbreaks, the pitfalls, the dangers."

Bronwyn seems able to handle them. At 17 she is a strong-minded, determined, auburn-haired version of her titan-tressed mother. She knows what she wants. "To be an actress," she declared at her Bel-Air home. "Not for the glamor of it; that never appealed to me. I want to act in things that require some depth and understanding, not just anything. I won't stay in acting unless I can do that."

IS VERY MODEST

She is starting modestly. Her first professional role is as a sorority girl in a "Bachelor Father" sequence over ABC next week.

"I would have had the bigger role in the story except for one thing," Bronwyn said. "I can't really complain about the reason: The producer said I couldn't play a witch."

Her billing: Bronwyn Fitz-Simons.

She explained that Bronwyn means "lovely white breast of a dove" and Fitz-Simons is an old form denoting "illegitimate son of Simon." Makes quite a story. Bronwyn declined to use the name O'Hara. "I won't trade on my mother's name," she said. "If I make it, I'm going to make it on my own."

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Farming was tabbed the "most important, most indispensable occupation on earth" Wednesday night by Carroll P. Streeter, editor of the Farm Journal in Philadelphia.

"America's farmers furnish 184 million people with three square meals a day, plus a good bit of their clothing," Streeter told members of the National Association of State Departments of Agriculture.

SHAKESPEARE PLAYS HELD AT WHITE HOUSE

By FRANCES LEWIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Actors and audience hailed a historic performance of Shakespeare at the White House Wednesday night.

The unusual theatricals in the famous East Ballroom were ordered by President and Mrs. Kennedy in honor of visiting President Ferik Ibrahim Abboud of the Sudan.

Mrs. Kennedy, whose devotion to the arts is well publicized, told the players she thought it was "sacrilege" to have had to cut the immortal bard down to 30 minutes.

But, just getting Shakespeare back into the White House for a half-hour inspired the cast of seven players from the American Shakespeare Festival Theater in Stratford, Conn. They gave enthusiastic applause to the Kennedys for inviting them to perform.

According to White House records, the last time the White House played host to Shakespeare was in 1910 during the Taft administration when players emoted on the south lawn.

Besides a state dinner, featuring saddle of lamb, Abboud was treated to a menu of excerpts from five Shakespearean dramas. With the scene of Duncan's murder from "Macbeth" and the assignation scene from "Troilus and Cressida," the 90 guests got a sampling of everything from gore to ribaldry. Other excerpts were from "Henry V," "As You Like It," and "The Temepest."

DRIVER KILLED IN COLLISION

ALTOONA, Pa. (AP) — A two-car collision on U. S. 220 Thursday night resulted in a gasoline fire and the death of Lewis A. Schlehr, 60, of Altoona. A third auto also was involved.

Carl E. Johnson, 27, of Ligonier, suffered a possible concussion and multiple lacerations and was admitted to Altoona Hospital. Carl W. Shade, 16, of Bellwood, was treated at the hospital and released.

State police gave the following account.

The car driven by Johnson passed Shade's auto as they were travelling south a half mile north of Altoona. Meanwhile, the car driven by Schlehr pulled onto 220 and turned south.

Johnson's car collided with the rear of Schlehr's. The gas tank of Schlehr's car collapsed, setting fire to the vehicle and spreading flaming gasoline over the highway. Shade attempted to avoid the burning gas and his car went off the road and struck a guard rail.

Police said Schlehr was trapped in his auto and it is not known if he died in the fire or from other injuries.

DAMASCUS (AP) — Syria reopened its airport Thursday and the government ordered private citizens to turn in their arms as life returned to almost normal after the revolution.

BOYLE'S Grab Bag

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The things a man learns about women when he is young educates all his days and ways.

It was then, a time ago:

There were the four of us, going home after school, in the time when arithmetic counted.

He, the other fellow, carried the other girl's books. Class for the day was done, and a feeling of recklessness swept the campus of the grammar school. I carried the real girl's books. Her name could have been Agnes.

Agnes wasn't the class clown or the school genius. She had brushed brown hair, the most languorous eyes in the fourth grade, and a sense of command.

WAS GREAT GAL

She was a great gal in her time. She had everything going for her—beauty, freckles, charm, and a boy to carry her books home.

I felt mighty proud the first time I was allowed to walk Agnes home, even though she wasn't too good at short division and she spelled by hearsay.

But day after day all she talked about was herself and her own dreams. She never asked about mine.

It occurred to me that all I was doing was listening to her, and her books were getting heavier and heavier. Time was invisibly throwing dishwasher on my romance.

It was Agnes.

SMALLEST IN CLASS

"You're the smallest boy in the class, Harold," she said. "I'm at least a head taller than you. It's embarrassing. Can't you grow any faster?"

"I'll try, Agnes," I answered manfully. Easier said than done.

In those days many horses still pulled many wagons in the streets. Now and then a wornout horse would collapse in midday, fall upon the street, kick briefly against his tangled harness, then lie quiet—the ultimate in the dignity of workhood.

On a day going home from school we came upon such a horse, fallen in the street and quivering. It lay there at the end of its will and its ability—dubious, nonviolent, unprotesting, saved from total despair only by the roving eye of aimless hope.

REAL TAUGH GAL

Agnes didn't feel the way I did. She walked blithely over, kicked the horse where its mane met its shoulder and said, "Get up, horse! Get up!"

The horse couldn't get up. Agnes walked on homeward unconcerned, uninvolved. Her books were a burden heavy and hateful, and I never carried them again.

Across 40 years I remember I learned about women from her. Later experiences taught kinder lessons.

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban government agreed Wednesday night to recall its charge d'affaires in the Philippines but rejected charges leveled by the Philippine government that the envoy operated a Communist propaganda center.

EXTEND LOAN PROGRAM TO RURAL FOLK

By HAL BOYLE

Families living in small towns and rural areas and on farms now can have housing comparable to that of city families.

"The recently enacted Federal Housing Act of 1961 now brings a home loan program within the reach of thousands of rural families," according to Daniel A. Paddock of the Farmers Home Administration.

"Domestic farm labor including migratory laborers may benefit also," Mr. Paddock said, "since for the first time the Farmers Home Administration may insure loans to provide them with better housing."

LOANS LIMITED

A group of Farmers Home Administration credit leaders from 42 eastern Pennsylvania counties are meeting at Lewisburg for two days to get new instructions for carrying out the broadened program and other lending authorities which the agency administers.

More than $400 million has been authorized over the next four years for the rural housing loans and loans totaling $100,000,000 for farm labor housing may be insured.

Rural housing loans are limited to farm owners and to owners of nonfarm tracts in rural areas and small rural communities with populations of not more than 2,500.

4 PCT. INTEREST

This credit may be extended to construct, improve or repair rural homes and related facilities or farm service buildings or to provide water for farmstead and household use.

In addition to major construction, funds are available to modernize homes—add bathrooms, central heating, modern kitchens and other home improvements, as well as to enlarge or remodel farm service buildings and put in related facilities such as paved feedlots, yard fences and driveways.

The interest rate is four percent per year on the unpaid balance of the loans. Loans may be scheduled for repayment over periods up to 33 years.

The proposed housing must be adequate to meet the family's needs yet modest in size and design.

NOT COMPETING

The Farmers' Home Administration does not compete with regular commercial lenders and applicants must be unable to get the credit they need from other sources.

Applications for loans are made at any of the more than 1,400 county offices of the Farmers' Home Administration across the country. The agency officials review the building plans and inspect the housing construction as it progresses in order to guarantee that the borrower obtains sound and acceptable construction.

In addition to housing loans, the Farmers' Home Administration also makes loans to farmers for farm and home operating expenses, buying and developing family farms, carrying out water development and soil conservation work, developing small watershed projects and for emergency credit needs in cases where farmers are hit by a natural disaster such as floods and droughts.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The new commandant of the Fourth Naval District is Rear Adm. Robert W. Cavenagh, cited four times in World War II for heroism.

The 56-year-old Annapolis graduate was named Wednesday to succeed Rear Adm. Charles H. Lyman who previously was reassigned as commander of the Atlantic Fleet Destroyer Force.

The Fourth District includes Pennsylvania, Ohio, Delaware and parts of New Jersey.

44 HEAD — 33 COWS — 1 BRED AND 10 OPEN HEIFERS! 100% Vaccinated and Dehorned — Used to loose-housing system (20 fresh or due within 30 days of sale date)

Mr. Howe started his herd a few years ago with a nucleus of heifers from Kimberton Farms, Phoenixville, Pa. Dams of these have been on test year after year, many with over 10,000 lbs. milk (Immature). He further strengthened his herd with the purchase of five of the top at the '60 Windy Hill Sale and several more at the State Sale the same year. All of these with good records, type and strong udders.

There won't be many more opportunities this fall to have such a fine selection of fresh cows and heavy springers which are bound to add the needed additional income which will be so welcome when the highest milk prices are in effect.

RENEW WORRY ABOUT SHORT TERM FUNDS

Bette Davis Sues Screen Magazine

NEW YORK (AP)—Bette Davis has filed a million-dollar libel suit against Modern Screen magazine, charging an article in the May issue depicted her as an aging has-been actress with no future.

The suit, against Dell Publishing Co., came to light Wednesday when Dell moved in State Supreme Court to strike out portions of the complaint, including those alleging malice.

The cut in London should help discourage any new rush such as the outflow of dollars and gold that a year ago caused doubts, quickly discounted, about the soundness of the U.S. dollar.

Some investment money has been going to London from the United States, New York bankers have reported in recent weeks. And in the past week the U.S. gold supply has dipped after a period of relative stability.

The price of gold on the London free market has risen and now stands 18¢ cents above the U.S. Treasury official rate of $35 an ounce.

STERLING IN TROUBLE

The reason for the outflow of funds is that the British raised the Bank of England rate to 7 per cent July 25 from 5½ per cent because the pound sterling was in trouble.

The Federal Reserve Bank discount rate was then, and still is, 3 per cent.

The spread between the two bank rates carries over into short-term securities. Recently British treasury bills have been yielding 6½ per cent, while the yield on like U.S. securities has ranged from 2½ to 3 per cent. The official bank rates set the pattern but don't determine the exact yields on various types of securities.

Some investors, including Americans, with idle money for short-term, have taken advantage of the higher London rates. There also has been some flight of West German funds to London during the Berlin crisis.

As a result the pound sterling has rallied and Britain's reserves of gold and currency have climbed.

CUT ITS RATE

So Thursday the Bank of England cut its rate to 6½ per cent, doubtless chiefly to ease restrictions on domestic business in Britain itself. The cut isn't a big enough drop to cause any great outflow of funds from London to other money centers, such as New York. But every little bit helps when the United States is trying to maintain its own currency and gold stability.

The drain on U.S. Treasury gold reserves stopped early this year

"Cump" Sherman Named

Chief in Cumberland

Lincoln Writes

Marching Orders

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 8—

Brig. Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman, 41, former Ohio banker, today was named commander of the strategic Cumberland Department of the Union Army.

With the appointment, President Lincoln sent the bearded, fast-talking Sherman an explicit—and staggering—assignment:

He was given basic responsibility for the implementation of President Lincoln's orders last week for the immediate seizure of a key railhead near Cumberland Gap, the gateway to the west through the Appalachians.

In this directive, his first since the disastrous operation order that led to the North's rout at Bull Run in July, Mr. Lincoln insisted on an end to the lethargy that has seized most Union units in recent weeks.

GEN. Sherman has been commanding some 8,000 men in and around Muidraugh's Hill, some 40 miles south of Louisville, Ky.

In his assault on the rail-head—capture of which would cripple fast transportation between Virginia and Tennessee—Sherman will be joined by about 5,000 troops now stationed near Lexington, Ky., under command of Gen. George H. Thomas.

Also moving to join Sherman were smaller units from Fort Holt, Ky., and Cairo, Ill. After these forces are grouped near Louisville, other troops from Cincinnati were to team up with the new Army for the march on the Gap, which is about 90 miles southeast of Lexington.

Opposing the aggressors will be firmly entrenched Confederate troops, estimated at from 5,000 to 6,500 in strength, headed by Confederate Gen. Felix Zollicoffer. Also in the general area, and presumably mobile enough to join Zollicoffer, were outfits with a total force of some 7,000, under direction of Gen. Simon Buckner.

SHERMAN—Known as "Cump" to boyhood friends in Lancaster, Ohio, because of his distinctive middle name—was graduated from West Point in 1840 and served in the Mexican War.

He quit the Army in 1853 and made a brief and unhappy excursion into the banking field. Later, he served as chief of a military school in Louisiana. He was president of a street railway in St. Louis at the time he re-entered the Federal Army as a colonel last May. He was promoted to his present rank after the fighting at Bull Run.

Suspend Man For

Favor To Colavito

MONROE, Mich. (AP)—A Monroe County sheriff's deputy was suspended for 15 days for failing to ticket Detroit Tiger slugger Rocky Colavito after he was stopped for speeding.

Two deputies stopped Colavito for driving 80 miles an hour Sunday night and let him off with a warning, Sheriff Charles G. Harrington said.

Colavito did not comment on the incident.

Sheriff Harrington suspended Clyde T. Guthrie. The other deputy, Ralph Brown, got a departmental reprimand.

"No one is going to travel through Monroe County at 80 miles an hour—and that includes Rocky Colavito," the sheriff said.

30,000 Violators

Are Being Sought

Ford and the UAW already have agreed on a money package paralleling the GM settlement that gives UAW members an increase of more than 12 cents an hour in take-home pay.

Still to be settled at the national level are the union's non-economic demands. These include production standards, grievance procedure, skilled trades problems and sub-contracting of work the union insists should be done by its members.

Both Reuther and Denise are striving for an early settlement—possibly by Saturday or Sunday.

Notices were sent Wednesday to motor vehicle bureaus in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Maryland and Delaware.

Meanwhile, the Pennsylvania Bureau of Highway Safety began informing state motorists who have ignored traffic tickets in Philadelphia that a "stop" had been put on their licenses until accounts were squared.

Both Reuther and Denise are striving for an early settlement—possibly by Saturday or Sunday.

REIS BURGLARY TRIAL HELD UP UNTIL TUESDAY

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — The Lillian Reis burglary trial was in recess today until next Tuesday to allow the Commonwealth time to obtain a New Jersey court order directing the appearance of an Atlantic City motel owner as a witness.

The trial was recessed abruptly Thursday before the usual time when Asst. Disty. Atty. Calvin J. Friedberg reported that a vital Commonwealth witness refused to honor a subpoena to appear with "records dealing with Miss Reis and other persons."

Friedberg named the witness as Albert Britten, one of the owners of the Colony Motel.

DENIAL BY RICK

The recess came after the testimony of the burglary victim, John B. Rich, who took the stand for the second time, and a couple of other witnesses.

Rich, a millionaire Pottsville coal operator whose home safe was looted on Aug. 7, 1959, testified police lied when they said he agreed he had lost a fortune to burglars.

Rich had testified earlier at the trial of Miss Reis and at the trials of three men convicted previously in the case that the safe held some $3,000 in cash and about $17,000 in jewelry while police have testified all along the amount was near $500,000 in cash.

Miss Reis, a 32-year-old shapey, one-time chorus girl, is accused of hiring several men to crack the safe. Police claim the theft led to the gangland slayings of two brothers, one of them accused of taking part in the burglary.

AGE CARDS FOR BUYING LIQUOR ARE AVAILABLE

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State Liquor Control Board said today that application forms for special age identification cards will become available at all state stores next Monday.

The cards are provided to insure proof of age at state stores and bars, under a new law, effective Oct. 21. They are not required, but would provide the only legal proof of age for persons questioned.

The application forms must be signed by the applicant in the presence of a state store employee. Two recent photographs of the applicant must be provided. The pictures, one inch by one inch in size, are to be a full-faced close-up view of the applicant without a hat.

THREE DOCUMENTS

The cards are designed to provide legal age identification for persons who are old enough to buy alcoholic beverages, but might be questioned.

Applicants must submit three documents proving they are at least 21 years old—the legal age for purchase of alcoholic beverages. They may be from the following: armed forces identification card; passport; selective service cards; military discharge or separation papers; drivers' license; voters registration card; life insurance policies; birth certificate; baptismal certificate, and school or church age records.

The original identification card will be issued without charge. If lost, or destroyed, a duplicate may be secured for $2.

JOEY JAY IS CONCERNED WHEN HURLING

By ED CORRIGAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Joey Jay, a 6-foot-4 right-hander, operates on the theory that a pitcher can't worry when he's on the mound.

"He will be concerned," said the 225-pound Jay, "that's all right. But he can't worry. Once he starts to worry, he's beaten before he starts."

"Of course, sometimes you can go too far the other way. Sometimes I need a kick where it hurts to be concerned."

The 26-year-old ex-chicken farmer, first Little Leaguer to make the majors, stopped the New York Yankees, 6-2, on four hits Thursday and pulled the Cincinnati Reds even in the World Series, one game apiece.

OUTSPOKEN FELLOW

Jay is an outspoken fellow who tries to approach pitching from a clinical viewpoint. He approached it well, considering his 21-10 record.

"For instance," he said, "there are a lot of batters that you figure you'll never strike out. So the next thing to do is try to make them hit your pitch."

Jay said he pitched cautiously to Roger Maris to stop the home run king.

"I stopped him by throwing him good pitches," Jay said. "It's as simple as that. I walked him in the fourth and that irked me. I really didn't want to walk him because I knew what people would say — that I was afraid to pitch to him."

Princeton Center Is Out Of Action

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP) — Princeton football Coach Dick Colman said Thursday that Bob Van Derwoert will replace Bob Burruss as the Tigers' starting center against Columbia in New York this Saturday.

Burruss suffered a wrenched knee in the closing minutes of the first half of last Saturday's game with Rutgers. Although the 180-pound junior from Broomall, Pa., was able to return for the second half, Colman said he has not been able to do anything all this week.

Seek Release Of Accused Murderer

LEBANON, Pa. (AP) — The attorneys for a 25-year-old Levittown truck driver charged with murder, sought a court order today to have their client released from jail for a psychiatric examination.

Attorneys Alvin B. Lewis Jr. and John Erickson were scheduled to present their arguments at a hearing before Judge G. Thomas Gates of Lebanon County Court.

The pair represent Arthur E. Linthurst, who is being held without bail at the Lebanon County jail on an open charge of murder in the pistol slaying of Charles Miller of Myerstown R. 2.

In a brief filed before Gates Thursday, Lewis and Erickson contended that they should have the right to remove Linthurst from prison and submit him to psychiatric tests "for their own records."

SYRIANS ARE GLAD TO FLEE NASSER RULE

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — About 70 per cent of Syria's people are glad to be out from the oppressive rule of President Nasser and his United Arab Republic, informed sources say.

The people were sick of the stiff import restrictions, crippling economic decrees, the secret police, terror and unheard-of income taxes imposed by Cairo.

The remainder of the population still stands by Nasser, these informants say. A small but vocal segment of Syria's 4½ million people, it consists of rabid Arab nationalists and Nasser-worshipping students.

Whether the revolutionary regime of Premier Mamoun Kuzbari can command the loyalty of the Nasser-hating majority is another question.

Composed of known rightists and professional men, the revolutionary cabinet may prove not revolutionary enough for some Syrians, possibly even for some segments of the army that installed it.

Despite the regime's neutral policy, 11 of Kuzbari's 12 ministers lean clearly to the West. Syrians are sensitive to accusations of imperialism or capitalism.

Kuzbari's cabinet faces troubles from Egypt, its partner in the U.A.R. until last week's military uprising dissolved those ties.

Nasser is expected to pour in money and agents to whip up dissent and work on Syrian feeling for Arab unity. Damascus once was the capital of Islam and these feelings may be even deeper in Syria than in the rest of the Arab world.

Nasser's powerful propaganda has lost some of its effectiveness in the last three years, however, and closer Syrian ties with neighboring Iraq and Jordan might be enough to offset it.

PROTEST REDS SHOOTINGS IN BERLIN AREA

BERLIN (AP) — The three Western Allies sharply protested today to the Soviets against two shooting incidents involving Communist East German police in Berlin's French sector.

British Commandant Sir Rohan Delacolme called on his Soviet counterpart, Col. Andrei I. Solov'yev, to deliver the protest on behalf of all three Western commanders, an Allied spokesman announced.

Delacolme told Solov'yev that the incidents resulted from "dangerous and irresponsible action" by the East Berlin Communist police.

The Yankees came back in the bottom of the inning on Yogi Berra's 12th home run in series play, scoring Roger Maris who had walked.

Following Chacon's key run in the fifth, the Redlegs added another in the sixth when with two out Wally Post doubled, Gene Freese was intentionally passed, and catcher John Edwards crashed a single that scored Post. Terry grounded out, ending the inning.

The final two Cincinnati runs came in the eighth.

SAY DIPLOMAT GAVE SECRETS TO SAVE LOVE

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — A State Department security officer says former U. S. diplomat Irvin C. Scarbeck admitted getting his Polish pariah out of Poland into West Germany with the help of Polish intelligence agencies.

Scarbeck, 41, former second secretary of the American Embassy in Warsaw, is accused of slipping secrets to Polish agents while trying to protect himself and his girl friend, Ursula Discher, from blackmail and threats.

The security officer, Kenneth W. Knauf, testified Thursday that when he talked with Scarbeck June 5 in Frankfurt, Germany, Scarbeck at first denied he had ever been blackmailed by Polish Communists to turn over secret documents from the U. S. Embassy in Warsaw.

He also talked to local West Berlin police officers to receive eyewitness accounts of the incidents, which have sharpened tension in this divided city.

SAY YANKEES INFIELD MAY BE THE BEST

By TED SMITS

Associated Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK (AP) — All season long men who have been saying that the 1961 New York Yankee infield could be one of the best in the long history of baseball.

Their words of praise could scarcely be heard above the clamor about the home run hitting of Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle.

Come the World Series, with Mantle on the sidelines and Maris handcuffed by Red pitching, and it was the Yankee infield that took the spotlight in an opening game 2-0 victory over Cincinnati.

FORD HELPED

This is doubly true if pitcher Whitey Ford is counted as part of the inner defense.

Ford pitched his third consecutive World Series shutout victory (last year he beat Pittsburgh 10-0 and 12-0).

He was helped along by two other infielders, catcher Elston Howard and first baseman Moose Skowron. Howard hit a Homer in the fourth, and Skowron blasted into the left field stands in the sixth for the only scores of the game.

Throughout the fielding of the Yankee infielders was flawless, and Clete Boyer at third was sensational.

In the second he trapped a hard smash by Gene Freese that easily could have been a hit, and threw him out.

In the eighth, pinch hitter Dick Gernert slammed the ball to Boyer's left. He managed to stop it, fell flat, and then got to one knee and threw out the lumbering Redleg.

Ford was so much master of the situation that the Reds never got a man to third. The closest was Wally Post who singled in the fifth, advanced to second on Gordon Coleman's grounder, and went charging toward third on Darrell Johnson's rap to Boyer. Boyer tagged out Post, who hit the Yankee third baseman hard, nearly knocking him down.

ADAMS COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY

MRS. NORMAN RICHARDSON

While perusing the seven-day book shelves at the library recently, I was amazed to see that the wonderful book, "Ring of Bright Water," has been sitting on the shelves. Many of you are truly missing a rare treat if you don't at least take a glance through this choice and unique book. It has been widely read in England as well as remaining on our best seller lists for seven months so perhaps my enthusiasm is shared by a few others.

Laid in the beautiful country of northwest Scotland, "Ring of Bright Waters" by Gavin Maxwell, tells of the author's settling down to live in an ancient but empty cottage which he furnished with bits of this and that thrown up on nearby beaches. The few bona fide pieces of furniture were purchased from a retired Hollywood actress who ran a local inn. His description of the changing seasons on this lonely but lovely coastal area, the migrations of animals, birds and fish, and the character sketches of his neighbors are vividly written and almost poetic. The author is a portrait painter as well as a writer and, when not travelling or living in London, he withdraws to this retreat as a rather modern Thoreau.

The real hero and heroine of the book are the two pet otters he acquired as companions after the death of his dog. First came the adventurous Mijbil and, after an unfortunate accident, Maxwell located another equally charming otter, Edal. Although their habits were similar, their personalities were as definite and as different as one finds in dogs or cats. The locating of just the right otter for a pet is a tale in itself, as he secured Mijbil in Irak. The poor beast's trip by plane from Irak to London was uneventful for everyone concerned. Did you know that otters stand high on the ladder of intelligence? They are the only creatures (except little boys) who play their entire waking hours — throwing and batting balls, diving, turning on faucets for amusement and generally exploring into everything. They are apparently very affectionate as well as cleanly. Housebreaking is no problem and these particular otters liked nothing better than to share the author's bed, even to the head on the pillow!

For those of you who enjoyed the tales of Elsa, the lioness, this is your book. Nature lovers who appreciate Anne Lindbergh's books would likewise take to this most perceptive book. The photography is an added pleasure and make otters positively irresistible. Who knows, but if you read it, you may become Gettysburg's first otter-owner!
